Testimonials

"Picked up a lot of insights on initiatives that can be implemented in the area of CEM, very impressed to the program and the manner in which it was "managed" shows good practice of CEM by those who preached"

Sandra De Zoysa, Group Chief Customer Officer, Dialog Telekom PLC (Sri Lanka)

"Great thought-provoking experience! You take away a lot to start working on CEM."

Dirk Frans, Managing Partner, TOTE-M Business Architects (Belgium)

"I enjoyed Sampson's sessions the best - he had a good balance of theory & practical examples. The biggest "aha!" was the emotional curve - pleasure/pain peaks - and that you don't need to "fix" each & every touchpoint. I can see how it can be practiced by my clients. "

Angeli Lambsdorff, Managing Director, Dentsuindio Inc. (Philippines)

"Very well experienced speaker, ideal balance of theoretical modules and practical use of cases. "

Ania-Virginia Kleinbichler, Director, Visitor Marketing, Messe Frankfurt Exhibition GmbH (Germany)

"A lot of bricks fell into place. I can clearly see how to start and run my CEM program!"

Sven-erik Gjertsen, Project Lead CRM, GE Money Bank (Norway)

"I enjoyed Emotions and Loyalty (module). It shed new light on psychological effects on attitudes and behaviors. Touch-point management was also very helpful. Establishing a hierarchy helps when establishing our program to implement CEM."

Mick Martinez, The University of Texas at El Paso (United States)

"I have been in the call center industry for quite sometime and I thought there's nothing more to learn until now (taking this program). "

Marco Ogsimer, 800 TeleServices (China)

"It was terrific and invigorating to learn new concepts and become aware of skills and tools that are accessible."

Desirree Madison-Biggs, Director, Customer Experience, Symantec Corporation (United States)

"Very valuable information and trainers were very willing to share their knowledge and expertise."

Kenia Johansen, Team Lead - Customer Experience Transformation, American Express (United States)

"Recommend to senior management who needs to appreciate the concept well and drive accordingly."

Lim Siew Ping, Senior Manager, Branded Customer Experience, StarHub (Singapore)

"Very content rich, broad and thorough exploration of the subject."

Mark Grieves, Head of Customer Experience, OCBC Bank (Singapore)

"An outstanding performance and excellent course, absolutely professional. Great application of theory into practice, awesome, well done."

Martin Knollys, Provincial Service Manager, First National Bank (South Africa)

"It does (address my most critical needs). My immediate need is to sell the CEM project to executives - this course helps me to articulate the need"

Michael Gallant, Customer Requirement Manager, Trend Micro (United States)

1.1 Effective Experience Principles

Description

Strategy is a glamorous word. However, you won't have a holistic view of how customer experience works if you don't understand how customer buys. That's why we don't start the course with "Strategy". Instead, we bring you a new perspective to see how customers buy. You will see how emotions dictate buying decisions and affect brand choice, and learn how to ride on emotions to build brand loyalty.

Sampson Lee

Trainer

Learning Objectives

This module will enable attendees to:

- ◆ understand why emotions dictate buying behaviors
- ◆ figure out how emotions affect brand choice
- ◆ learn step-by-step how to ride on emotions to build brand loyalty

Content Sequence

How we feel – X-VOC (Experience-based Voice-of-customer)

- ◆ The subjective experience and the 5 senses: sight, hearing, smell, taste and touch
- ◆ Delta Principle – the triangular relations between experience, expectation and satisfaction
- ◆ Emotion Curve – tracks and quantifies our emotional feelings in natural time sequence
- ◆ X-VOC: a ground-breaking approach to listen to your customers

How we remember – X-MOT (Moments-of-truth at Experience)

- ◆ Effective memories – an experience is not effective unless it is remembered
- ◆ The Peak-end Rule and its applications in CEM
- ◆ Identify the X-MOT (Moments-of-truth at Experience)
- ◆ X-MOT: guides and optimizes resource allocation

How we choose – X-Effectiveness (Experience Effectiveness)

- ◆ An effective experience creates positive emotions and delivers target brand values
- ◆ The Triune Brain: Primitive, Intermediate and Rational Brains
- ◆ The Black Box – missing link between consumers experience to ultimate brand choice
- ◆ X-Effectiveness: aligns customer experiences to optimize brand loyalty

How we compare – X-Anchoring (Intra-experience Anchoring)

- ◆ We need more pain – an experience is not effective unless it is contrasted
- ◆ The paradox of happiness and the psychological immune system
- ◆ Maximize the PPG (Pleasure-pain gap)
- ◆ X-Anchoring: releases resource constraint and enhances subjective experience

1.2 Voice of the Customer

Description

Voice of the Customer is an essential topic for any CEM program. Besides covering the fundamentals of VOC, the key of this module is to teach you how to listen to the VOC in a meaningful way – to put VOC in context – to identify the critical values to customers and to your brand. Only if you set the stage right, VOC can lead you to the right direction of designing effective customer experience.

Brownel O'Connor

Trainer

Learning Objectives

This module will enable attendees to:

- ◆ understand how to design effective VOC programs
- ◆ integrate VOC into the customer experience management system
- ◆ convert the insights from VOC to formulate CEM strategy

Content Sequence

Voice of the Customers (VOC) Basics

- ◆ What is Voice of the Customer (VOC)
- ◆ Why Voice of the Customer (VOC) is needed
- ◆ The Voice of the Customer (VOC) Elements
- ◆ Voice of the Customer (VOC) and Customer Experience Management

Tools and Applications of VOC

- ◆ Types of VOC tools and information provided
- ◆ Types, frequency and measures of customer feedback surveys
- ◆ Applications and challenges of qualitative research
- ◆ Complementary usage of qualitative and quantitative researches

Designing Effective VOC Programs

- ◆ Target segments: define the target stakeholders' segments
- ◆ Value drivers: identify and assess the key value drivers by each segment
- ◆ Current performance: decide and measure the performance metrics by each touch-point
- ◆ Determine touch rules and design effective questionnaires

VOC in Action

- ◆ Identify the most valuable customers by the value they contribute
- ◆ Derive the most critical needs and rank their importance
- ◆ Map the current experience level at multi-channel touch-points
- ◆ Link VOC to CEM strategy design

1.3 CEM Strategy

Description

Strategy is about making choices. Designing an effective customer experience strategy means making choices on your targeted customers, branded values and resources allocation too. Particularly for CEM, this requires a paradigm shift from traditional wisdom of managing efficiency to managing effectiveness, and a lot of guts to focus or in other word, sacrifice. This module tells you how to set a framework of your own to build up your CEM strategy.

Sampson Lee

Trainer

Learning Objectives

This module will enable attendees to:

- ◆ understand your corporate DNA and your brand
- ◆ formulate an effective CEM strategy
- ◆ integrate CEM Strategy into the customer experience management system

Content Sequence

Who Are You -- Understand Your Corporate DNA

- ◆ Why you exist (mission) and what are your guiding principles (culture)
- ◆ What are your core competences
- ◆ External factors and competition
- ◆ The linkage between corporate DNA and CEM

Segmentation -- Define Your Target Customers

- ◆ Why customer segmentation is crucial to effective strategy formation
- ◆ How segmentation methods differ in CEM
- ◆ Not all customers are equally important to you – who are the ones
- ◆ How to perform effective customer segmentation

Brand Positioning -- Decide Target Brand Values

- ◆ Brand, brand values and brand positioning
- ◆ Current perceived brand values versus target brand positioning
- ◆ Optimize brand positioning by both art and science approaches
- ◆ Branded experience brings you customer engagement and loyalty – How does it work

Target Experience – Formulate Effective Experience Strategy

- ◆ What is an effective CEM strategy
- ◆ Steps to formulate an effective CEM strategy
- ◆ Win-win approach: effective strategy to the customers and to the brand
- ◆ Integration of CEM strategy with VOC and touch-point management

2.1 Branded CEM

Description

The challenge of customer experience nowadays is that good experience is not enough. You need differentiated (branded) experience. Only when you have branded experience, you could differentiate and create loyalty. CEM is not effective unless it is branded. A strategically designed experience process which provides branded experience is critical for improving brand equity (value of your brand) and customer equity (value brought by your customer) for long-term success.

Brownel O'Connor

Trainer

Learning Objectives

This module will enable attendees to:

- ◆ understand branded, non-branded and un-branded experiences
- ◆ figure out the core elements of the branded CEM method
- ◆ learn step-by-step on how to design your own unique branded experience

Content Sequence

Branded CEM Basics

- ◆ Characteristics of a branded experience
- ◆ Differences and implications among branded, non-branded and un-branded experiences
- ◆ Branding the experience and experiencing the brand
- ◆ An experience is not effective unless it is branded

Branded CEM Optimization

- ◆ First thing first: define your target customer segments
- ◆ Critical and essential: identify and evaluate the importance of sub-processes
- ◆ The magic touch: factor your target brand values into an experience process
- ◆ Peak and end: Design and manipulate the effective peak and end experiences

Branded CEM Delivery

- ◆ Customer-centric could be wrong
- ◆ Effective experience is not equal to good experience
- ◆ Emotion curves for multiple touch-points
- ◆ Introduction of EEI (Effective Experience Index)

Design Your Own Branded Experience

- ◆ Brand values, critical needs and effective experience
- ◆ Less is more: allocate your resources in an effective way
- ◆ Put PPG (Pleasure-pain Gap) in action
- ◆ Develop your own branded experience

2.2 Touch-Point Management

Description

Touch-points are those places, events and interactions affecting your prospects, customers and the public. You can't control them all, but identifying the ones you can influence and control are critical to your success. This module will teach you how to optimize and synergize multiple touch-points to deliver differentiated and branded experience to your target customers. You will be able to better manage your resources allocations to create effective experience.

Sampson Lee

Trainer

Learning Objectives

This module will enable attendees to:

- ◆ understand characteristics of different touch-points and how to manage them effectively
- ◆ optimize resource allocation for different touch-points
- ◆ synergize multiple touch-points to deliver target branded experience

Content Sequence

- ◆ Marketing communications touch-points

Managing Touch-points By Value Drivers

- ◆ Love and hate drivers
- ◆ MOT of a touch-point experience
- ◆ Delivering your value propositions through touch-points
- ◆ Differentiating your touch-point experience

Optimizing A Single Touch-point

- ◆ Benefits of optimizing a single touch-point
- ◆ Step-by-step guide to optimize a single touch-point experience
- ◆ Principles for resources allocation on a single touch-point
- ◆ Design the target performance level of a single touch-point

Synergizing Multiple Touch-points

- ◆ Strategic advantages of synergizing multiple touch-points
- ◆ A systemic approach to synergize multiple touch-points experience
- ◆ Principles for resources allocation on multiple touch-points
- ◆ Design different target performance levels of multiple touch-points

2.3 CEM Implementation

Description

For CEM implementation, it means delivering your designed experience to your customers via a set of multiple touch-points. This will require capabilities alignment across people, process and technology in a company. This module provides you a roadmap for implementation as well as measurement metrics to ensure that your CEM program is monitored and tracked to provide constant feedback for continuous improvement.

Brownel O'Connor

Trainer

Learning Objectives

This module will enable attendees to:

- ◆ translate performance gaps into required capabilities
- ◆ design implementation roadmap and set measurement metrics
- ◆ develop a close-loop CEM management system

Content Sequence

About the Organizer

G-CEM (Global Customer Experience Management Organization) helps companies to create effective customer experience. Our patent-pending methodologies combine the art and science of CEM in assessing and delivering branded and total customer experience (TCE). G-CEM International Partners are located in Europe, Asia, and North America. Our services include TCE Evaluation and CEM Certification. Visit Us: <http://www.G-CEM.org>.

Total Customer Experience (TCE) Evaluation

The TCE Evaluation consists of two parts: TCE Model Building sets a comprehensive blueprint and renders a complete architecture to measure, manage, and improve the total customer experience as perceived at multiple touch-points and among multiple channels across the entire customer lifecycle. The TCE Assessment measures the effectiveness of experience in driving customer satisfaction, brand differentiation, sales transactions and creating advocates. The combination of TCE model building and assessment helps companies deliver a branded and effective total customer experience.

Global CEM Certification Program

The Global CEM (Customer Experience Management) Certification Program is developed based on the U.S. patent-pending Branded CEM Method which aims to drive customer loyalty and brand differentiation with quantifiable business results. Since 2006, Global CEM has run the program in Amsterdam, Barcelona, Brussels, Copenhagen, Frankfurt, London, Milan, Paris, Dubai, Istanbul, Johannesburg, Bangkok, Hong Kong, Shanghai, Singapore, Sydney, Los Angeles and San Francisco, with clients from 61 countries across the five continents.
